

PGY-4

Neal Luther M.D. graduated from SUNY at Buffalo with a BA in Psychology and a BS in Biology before attending Weill Medical College of Cornell University where he graduated in 2005. While in medical school working in the laboratory of Mark Souweidane, MD, he developed an interest in identifying agents with the potential for local interstitial delivery for the treatment of high grade gliomas in adults and children. He is currently continuing this investigation during his dedicated research year of residency.
